

BIOGRAPHY

Erin Shepley works as the Chief of the Partnerships Office within the JCDC. Shepley's work carries across government partners, international boundaries and critical infrastructure sectors to rapidly share relevant cyber threat information and insights and build a better picture of threats to our cyber ecosystem. Shepley has worked at DHS for over 12 years supporting the cybersecurity mission, but always with a focus on partners, and has led development and execution of CISA's Cybersecurity Awareness Month campaign.
