

The President's National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee

Committee Member Biography

The President's National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee

Renée James
Independent Director of the Board
Oracle Corporation

Ms. Renée James currently serves as an independent director on the board of directors for Oracle Corporation, and as an operating executive with the Carlyle Group's Telecommunications, Media, and Technology Practice. Previously, Ms. James was president of Intel Corporation, where she held a variety of positions in research and development (R&D) leadership of both software and hardware, including the establishment of a global R&D network and global manufacturing leadership. Prior to this position, Ms. James was the executive vice president and general manager of Intel's Software and Services Business. During her tenure with Intel, she spearheaded the company's strategic expansion into proprietary and open source software, cybersecurity, and cloud-based computing. Early in her career, Ms. James served as chief of staff for Intel's former chief executive officer, Mr. Andy Grove. Currently, she serves as a non-executive director on the Vodafone Group, Plc. board, as well as on the board of Sabre Corporation; the board of Citigroup, Inc.; and is a member of the Committee of 200, a membership organization of the world's most successful women entrepreneurs and corporate innovators. In 2014, Ms. James was ranked 21st on Fortune's "Most Powerful Women in Business" list, and she is ranked 45th on the Forbes' "100 Most Powerful Women" list. She holds both a bachelor's and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Oregon.

